

Franklin H. Stover
Retired
CPA/CFF/CGMA, CFE

Frank and his wife, Gayle, are resident property owners on Padre Island.

Our connection to the island started when Gayle's father, a now retired Coast Guard officer, was first stationed at NAS Corpus Christi when she was still a teenager.

Frank has over 45 years experience in public and private accounting. He has extensive experience with financial statement auditing, accounting services, litigation support, forensic accounting, fraud investigation, and consulting for closely-held businesses, corporations, partnerships, governmental, not-for-profit organizations and individuals. He has served clients in a variety of industries, including manufacturing, oil and gas, construction, professional services, non-profit entities, and political organizations.

Frank is a graduate of Michigan State University with a BA in Accounting. He is a retired Certified Public Accountant (CPA), he was licensed in multiple states and the District of Columbia. Frank also held the Certified in Financial Forensics (CFF), Chartered Global Management Accountant designations from the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants (AICPA). Frank was also a Certified Fraud Examiner (CFE), this designation from the Association of Certified Fraud Examiners (ACFE) is issued to individuals who complete an extensive course of study and pass a multipart examination.

Frank has served as a board member and as advisor to various non-profit organization boards and executive committees and as a Georgetown, Texas Housing Authority Commissioner.